ABOUT JON STOLL

Jon Stoll was a loving husband, father of five and like any true rocker - an iconoclast - who died too soon as a result of brain cancer at the very young age of 54. Ahead of his time, Jon was known as the driving force behind positioning Palm Beach County, if not the entire state of Florida, on the pop-culture map. Jon was the founder of Fantasma Productions, a formidable concert promoting business, second to none. He owned and operated one of the best small venues in the state, two incredible amphitheatres, and booked artists ranging from Sinatra to Sting everywhere - from exquisite performing arts center to raucous football stadiums. A Tony Award winner, it wasn't just what Stoll had accomplished, but the larger than life way in which he accomplished it: speaking fast and moving just as fast, and never wasting a opportunity to celebrate with his first love - friends and family.

ABOUT THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

As the largest voluntary health organization in the United States, the American Cancer Society is passionately committed to saving lives from cancer. We're working to create a world with less cancer and more birthdays - a world where cancer never steals another year from anyone's life. We combine our relentless passion with the wisdom of more than a century of experience to make this vision a reality, and we get results. We save lives by helping people stay well, get well, finding cures and fighting back. Thanks in part to this work, more than 14 million cancer survivors - and countless others who have avoided the disease - will celebrate another birthday this year.

The American Cancer Society is proud to present Let's Rock Palm Beach as a tribute to Jon Stoll and hope you will join us in honoring him in the community he loved and lived in.
